

Daaks Austin

Daaks' favorite memories of LGS include the egg drop from the firetruck ladder, music class and brain food. He looks forward to high school and then becoming a deputy.

Alex Berninger

Alex loves art class and being creative. He says LGS helped him learn how to complete assignments and how to take a sensory break by walking with weights.

Finn Davitt

Finn loves social studies and learning about people through history. He feels prepared for high school because LGS helped him learn to follow directions and improve his grades.

Sam Duccilli

Sam will miss LGS and using cool music apps like MuseScore, but especially his friends. He's looking forward to high school and meeting whatever challenges might come his way.

Simon Evans

Simon is excited about high school! He thanks LGS for all he has learned, including how to manage his behavior. His favorite subject is reading; he loves books in most genres.

Bennett Grady

Bennett will miss LGS's computers and math class (in which he does well). He's excited about high school and making new friends and sees himself coming back to LGS to work.

Dylan Sanderson

Dylan believes LGS has prepared him for high school by teaching him to be on time and have fun! His favorite class was science because he learned things beyond the textbook.

Nicholas Savchenko

At LGS Nicholas enjoyed science activities like making bubbles and a potato launcher. He's a little nervous about high school but looks forward to more cool projects.

Brendon Sears

Brendon has enjoyed Robotics class but will miss music and playing the piano the most. He is excited about high school and all of the books at the school.

Max Siekman

Learning new things was Max's favorite part of LGS, and he looks forward to learning more in high school. After high school, he'd like to cook food in a restaurant.

Caleb Smith

Caleb says LGS's social skills classes prepare students for high school by helping them make friends. After high school, he looks forward to college and becoming a teacher.

Max Steinberg

"Being part of the class" is what Max liked most about LGS, including his favorite class, PE. He looks forward to being part of high school classes and working on computers.

Sophia Wooten

Sophia is sad about leaving LGS and says she will miss her friends but knows she will meet new friends in high school. She will continue to pursue her love of working with animals.
